The following is an excerpt from a recent media story on the discussions of US Congressperson Fred Upton with a number of Kalamazoo area leaders, including those from the Kalamazoo Community Mental Health and Substance Abuse Services.

U.S. Congressman Fred Upton met with top Kalamazoo mental health officials on the campus of Western Michigan University.

Upton organized the meeting to discuss how to better provide mental health resources for kids in response to the Parkland, Florida, shooting.

Civil Discourse: The Gateway to Sustainable Policy Changes
Michigan Health Policy Forum

1:00 PM - 4:00 PM

Kellogg Center - Big 10A

219 S. Harrison Road

East Lansing, MI 48824

In the past decade, the United States has adopted policies that maximized the number of US citizens with health insurance coverage/services and then taken action to reverse that direction. What are the goals of the United States with regard to health insurance coverage for its citizens? What does our nation value with regard to health care?

The change in policy direction did not result from meaningful dialogue about our health policy goals. In the absence of that dialogue, policy arguments and political arguments are used interchangeably. Informed health policy requires informed discussion. The Michigan Health Policy Forum is dedicated to presenting informed discussion in the belief that a civil exchange of ideas from all sides of the political spectrum will help Forum attendees in understanding the concerns that shape health policy. This understanding is the basis of sustainable policy change in health care.

Speakers include: Randolph Rasch, PhD, RN, FAANP, Dean, Michigan State University College of Nursing
Joseph R. Antos, PhD, American Enterprise Institute - "The View from the Right"
Sabrina Corlette, JD, Health Policy Institute, Georgetown University - "The View from the Left"

SAMHSA announces grant application guide book

Below is a recent announcement, from the federal Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA) on a handbook designed to provide guidance to potential grant seekers.

Good afternoon,

I wanted to let you know that the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA) is reaching out to mental health associations throughout the U.S. to inform them that two webinars will be conducted next week for potential SAMHSA grant applicants. SAMHSA has recently announced several funding opportunities that focus on the provision of mental health services and there are a few more that will be announced before the end of the month. As a resource for mental health providers in the state, I thought you might be able to inform providers who may be interested in applying for grants of this training opportunity. SAMHSA recently updated its manual entitled Developing A Competitive SAMHSA Grant Application. The manual can be found at:

https://www.samhsa.gov/sites/default/files/sites/default/grant_application_manual_508_compliance.pdf. The document provides valuable information about how to prepare a strong application. The two webinars next week will highlight important components of the manual. They will be held on Monday, April 16 and Thursday, April 19. Both webinars will be from 2:00 – 3:30 pm (ET). Information on how to access the webinars is available on the SAMHSA Grant Announcements webpage: <https://www.samhsa.gov/grants/grant-announcements-2018>.

It would be appreciated if you could share this information with mental health providers in your state. If you have any questions, let me know.

MDHHS alerts public about uncontrolled bleeding due to synthetic marijuana products containing brodifacoum

The Michigan Department of Health and Human Services (MDHHS) is alerting health care providers and Michigan residents about numerous cases of individuals in Illinois suffering from persistent and severe bleeding due to the suspected use of synthetic marijuana containing brodifacoum.

Brodifacoum has been identified as the cause of 70 cases of uncontrolled bleeding reported between March 7 and April 2 being investigated by the Illinois Department of Public Health. This has included 60 hospitalizations and two deaths. Brodifacoum is an off-white, odorless powder poison. It was first introduced in 1975 to eliminate rodents that had become resistant to existing poisons. It is one of the most widely used pesticides around the world.

To date, the illnesses have been associated with the use of synthetic marijuana products. Synthetic marijuana is a humanmade, mind-altering chemical that is either sprayed on dried, shredded plant material to be smoked or sold as liquids to be vaporized and inhaled in e-cigarettes and other devices. Also known as fake weed, it is sold for recreational drug use under brand names such as K2, Spice, Black Mamba, Bombay Blue, Genie, Zohai and others.

“While public health officials in Michigan have not been made aware of any cases to date, the fact Illinois is a neighboring state gives us cause for concern,” said Dr. Eden Wells, MDHHS chief medical executive. “We are urging anyone who has a reaction to synthetic marijuana, such as severe bleeding, to call 911 or have someone take them to the emergency department immediately.”

When correctly identified, cases can be treated with doses of vitamin K.

NATIONAL UPDATE

Highlights of the FY 2018 Omnibus Federal Spending Package

Last week, nearly six months after the start of federal fiscal year (FY) 2018, Congressional leaders reached agreement on a spending package that funds the federal government through the end of the fiscal year on September 30, 2018. President Trump signed the 2,232 page, $1.3 trillion spending package into law on Friday, March 23, averting a government shutdown and bringing an end to months of short-term funding extensions and partisan jostling over spending levels and policy riders.

The overall $1.3 trillion of appropriations in the omnibus bill – a combination of $692 billion in defense funding and $591 in non-defense funding – represents the highest level of funding for the federal government since FY 2011. While this increase in federal spending will benefit counties on a number of fronts, as outlined in detail throughout this document, it will likely push the federal deficit past $1 trillion by next year, reaching that dubious milestone for the first time since 2012.

Counties

To see NACo's full analysis, click here.

Highlights for how it impacts counties' role in health are included below:

U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS)

The omnibus funds the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services at $78 billion, a $10 billion increase above FY 2017 levels. The legislation targets funds for effective, proven programs improving the health, safety and quality of life for Americans. Much of the increase in HHS spending levels for FY 2018 is due to Congress' commitment to address opioid abuse.

Public Health Programs

- Centers for Disease Control and Prevention: Approximately 2,800 local public health departments, two-thirds of which are county-based, receive roughly 25 percent of their funding from the federal government, primarily through the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC).

The CDC receive $8.3 billion, a $1 billion increase compared to FY 2017. Notably, CDC would receive an additional $350 million to advance the understanding of the opioid overdose epidemic and scale up states' prevention activities. Other significant increases of relevance to counties include a $45 million increase for public health preparedness and $30 million for infectious diseases programs.

- Chronic disease prevention and health promotion programs: Discretionary funding in support of public health efforts to prevent the leading causes of preventable deaths are increased by $47 billion, including a $5 million increase to support efforts in high obesity counties.

The Prevention and Public Health Fund – the first dedicated funding stream established in the Affordable Care Act to support community prevention efforts – is maintained at $800 million.

Other federally funded public health programs that support county public health efforts received level funding, including the Racial and Ethnic Approaches to Community Health (REACH) program and the Preventive Health and Health Services Block Grant.

Behavioral Health Programs

- The Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA): Approximately 750 county behavioral health authorities receive block grant funding from the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA) to plan and operate community-based services for people with mental illnesses and substance use conditions.

SAMHSA receives $5.2 billion, a $1.4 billion increase over FY 2017 levels. SAMHSA's work specifically with mental health programs sees an increase of $306 million and their work supporting substance use prevention and treatment activities receives $1.1 billion in new funding.

- Programs to Enhance Behavioral Health Workforce: The omnibus provides an increase of $25 million to expand both the mental health and substance abuse workforce and expands eligibility for loan repayment through the National Health Service Corps to include substance abuse disorder. In addition, certified community behavioral health clinics receive an increase of $100 million and mental health first aid programs are increased by $5 million.

- SAMHSA's Community Mental Health Services Block Grant: SAMHSA's Community Mental Health Services Block Grant, which helps fund counties' mental health services, receives an increase of $160 million over FY 2017 levels, for a total of $701.5 million.
- SAMHSA's Substance Abuse Prevention and Treatment (SAPT) Block Grants: SAPT Block Grants, which county behavioral health authorities have traditionally relied upon, receive level funding at $1.9 billion. The report language recommends states be given greater flexibility under SAMHSA to focus on opioid prevention activities and direct resources in accordance with local needs.
- Opioid State Target Response Grants: Originally created under the 21st Century Cures Act, funding for the Opioid State Target Response Grants is doubled to $1 billion in its second year. While a percentage of the funds is allocated to states with the highest mortality rates due to opioid use disorders, no state will receive less than $4 million. Also of importance to counties, a new "Rural Communities Opioid Response" program is funded at $130 million with the explicit aim of reaching hard-hit rural communities across America.
- Substance Use Policy Rider: While the omnibus maintains a prohibition on using federal funds for the purchases of syringes or sterile needles, it does allow communities with rapid increases of HIV and Hepatitis cases to access federal funds for other activities, such as counseling and treatment referrals.

White House Announces Initiative to Combat Opioid Epidemic

On March 18, the White House announced President Trump's Initiative to Stop Opioid Abuse and Reduce Drug Supply and Demand, a three-pronged strategy to address the nation's ongoing opioid epidemic. The initiative will focus on reducing demand and over-prescription of opioids; cutting off the supply of illicit drugs; and expanding treatment options for individuals struggling with addiction.

The administration's announcement follows up on a November 2017 report of policy recommendations issued by the White House's opioid commission, which featured multiple proposals aimed at addiction prevention, addiction treatment and drug interdiction. The commission was established by President Trump shortly after his inauguration and was led by former New Jersey Governor Chris Christie.

In the White House's new initiative, which incorporates many of the recommendations put forth by the opioid commission, specific steps are listed for each of the initiative's three overarching goals. A county-focused summary of these steps is listed below, and you can read a full outline of the initiative here.

- Reducing demand and over-prescription: To educate Americans about the dangers of opioids and other drug use and to curb over-prescription of addictive painkillers, the president's initiative calls for the launch of a nationwide media campaign to raise public awareness about the dangers of prescription and illicit opioid use, as well as other drug use. The initiative also calls for the implementation of a "Safer Prescribing Plan" that would cut nationwide opioid prescription fills by one-third within three years, and would also support a nationally interoperable Prescription Drug Monitoring Program network.
- Cutting off the supply of illicit drugs: The initiative calls for a crack-down on international and domestic illicit drug supply chains, in part by securing land borders, ports of entry and international mail shipments against illegal smuggling. The initiative also calls for increased enforcement by the U.S. Department of Justice (DOJ) against corrupt or criminally negligent doctors, pharmacies and distributors, and calls for use of the death penalty against drug traffickers, where appropriate under current law.
- Helping those struggling with addiction: To help individuals with substance use disorders, the initiative calls for increased supply of naloxone to first responders, expanded access to evidence-based treatment (including Medication-Assisted Treatment), on-demand access to evidence-based treatment for veterans and funding opportunities to states and counties to improve nationwide overdose tracking systems that will help facilitate rapid deployment of resources to hard-hit areas.

Notably, the initiative also calls for legislative changes to the law prohibiting federal Medicaid reimbursement for residential treatment at certain facilities with more than 16 beds, and states that the administration will continue to approve state Medicaid waivers on this issue. NACo has long supported and prioritized federal legislative or regulatory changes that would alleviate this prohibition on Medicaid reimbursement, which is commonly referred to as the Institution for Mental Disease (IMD) exclusion.

Finally, the initiative calls for increased support for state and local drug courts that provide offenders struggling with addiction access to treatments as an alternative to, or in conjunction with incarceration, or as a condition of supervised release.

This came after the White House hosted an Opioid Summit on March 1 promising additional opioid efforts. In that meeting, HHS Secretary Azar announced he will approve Medicaid waivers that exempt states from the Institutes of Mental Diseases (IMD) exclusion. To learn more, click here.

MOTIVATIONAL INTERVIEWING FOR CHILDREN'S TRAINERS – May 3-4 in Lansing

Motivational Interviewing (MI) is a person-centered counseling style for addressing the common problem of ambivalence about change. It is an empirically-supported treatment (EST) with established benefit across a wide variety of ages, cultures, socio-economic conditions, and diagnoses. Essential constructs of MI include avoiding confrontation while demonstrating empathic listening and eliciting an individual's own reasons for contemplating and committing to making a change.

Motivational Interviewing is often drawn upon when initially meeting and engaging with clients to help with creation of a change plan, but can benefit the cyclical course of commitment to change as is typical throughout a service episode. MI is compatible with most other forms of treatment and service settings, including in schools, juvenile centers, home-based treatment, and family therapy. Who Should Attend: This course is appropriate for any direct-service staff who work with youth or families in a mental or physical health service setting and who encounter individuals who struggle with their commitment to making life changes. Supervisors and administrators may also benefit from learning course content in order to coach staff and advise organizational practices. Limited to 40 participants. Michigan's public mental health system has a long history of actively fostering innovation and continues to be a leader of a great many healthcare integration and transformation initiatives in communities all across the state. The pace and breadth of healthcare transformation is continuing to accelerate, with the changes related to Section 298 pilots being only one set of such efforts. These changes and the expectations of the healthcare system's patients, payers, providers, policy makers, nor legislators will not stand still during the two year 298 pilot process. Therefore, during this two year pilot period, our system must continue to innovate relative to its practices, partnerships, and structures drawing on and learning from the work being done in other states, with an eye toward the work that strengthened the public healthcare safety net. This pre-conference will feature the leaders of healthcare transformation efforts in a number of states, examining what went right and what went wrong – as a guide to Michigan's work over the next several years.

Keynote: The Third Way: Fostering Integration and Public-Private Partnerships to Ensure a Strong Healthcare Safety Net

■ Qualifies for 1 Related MCBAP Education Contact Hour

– Trish Marsik, MSW, Chief Operating Office, Services for the UnderServed, Inc. (New York)

– Doug Stadter, MPA, President, Arkansas Provider Coalition, LLC; Vice President, Care Coordination, Summit Community Care (Arkansas)

– Shane Spotts, BS, Medicaid Business Development, Anthem (Arkansas)

– Moderator: Robert Sheehan, Chief Executive Officer, CMH Association of Michigan

The “third path/third way” will be highlighted by the keynote speakers making up this panel. This approach, one being pursued by the CMH Association of Michigan, is a concerted, focused, and soundly grounded approach to building public-private partnerships and provider-payer partnerships that foster healthcare transformation within the nation’s publicly sponsored healthcare system. The pursuit of this “third path/third way” strategy is based on the recognition that neither of the two options often put forth as the only options for the future of Michigan’s public mental health system will allow Michigan’s system to provide high quality, person-centered services and supports nor to continue to be at the cutting edge of publicly-sponsored mental healthcare field. These two options are 1. Retaining the current structure of Michigan’s publicly-sponsored mental health system or 2. Privatizing the core functions of the Michigan system. The “third path/third way” pursued in several other states will be discussed, during this key note, by leaders from New York, Colorado, and Arkansas. The aim of this keynote is to assist the persons served, payers, and providers in Michigan to identify, examine and promote the adoption of the best practices and structures, drawn from across the country, that are built around public-private partnerships, provider-payer partnerships, healthcare integration and strong public safety net themes.

– Lisa Williams, LMSW, Clinical Social Worker, Kalamazoo Psychiatric Hospital

The workshop will provide a foundational overview of the meaning and process of competency to stand trial. This workshop will explore the clinical and ethical dilemmas that impact professionals who are tasked with providing mental health treatment under court order for the purpose of competency restoration. Important concepts will be reviewed to assist professionals in their understanding of the assessment and treatment processes involved in competency restoration. Participants will be able to: 1. Describe three elements of the competency to stand trial process; 2. Examine three relevant ethical dilemmas in the dual role of treating clinician and forensic evaluator; and 3. Define two important concepts related to competency education.

– Nanci Hambrick, LLMSW, Project Coordinator, Michigan State University School of Social Work

– Sheryl Kubiak, PhD, LMSW, Professor, Michigan State University School of Social Work

– Steven Mays, BSW, Liaison to the Mental Health Diversion Council, Diversion Administrator, MI Department of Health and Human Services

Since 2015, ten counties across Michigan have been working with the Governor’s Diversion Council to improve response to individuals with SMI involved in the criminal justice system. A system evaluation is currently underway to identify and measure the impact of the variety of interventions across five sequential intercepts within the counties. This workshop details how individuals booked into these county jails are identified with SMI and receive mental health services in jail. Standardized screening instruments were collected on a sample of individuals booked into the county jails to detect symptoms of SMI, presence of alcohol or drug use disorders, and housing stability. Results of current jail processes for identifying SMI were also reviewed and compared with the standardized screening results. In addition, the process for follow-up referral, assessment, and services was also assessed. Presenters will share several findings including prevalence of SMI and other risk factors among those booked into jail; likelihood for follow-up referral, assessment, and services within the jail; and the impact of funding configuration and structure on services provided. Participants will be able to: 1. Define what a validated, standardized, and objective screen is and describe its importance in identifying mental health concerns at jail booking; 2. Apply APA principles for provision of psychiatric services in jails to current identification, referral, and service processes within their county jail; 3. Summarize prevalence of three key risk factors among those booked into county jails across the state; and 4. Recall the impact of funding and organizational structure on the provision of mental health services within jails.

– Hakeem Lumumba, PhD, LMSW, LPC, NCC, CAADC, MAT, CCS-M, & ACS, President/CEO, H.L. Counseling Enterprise, Inc.

Consumers with co-occurring and substance use disorders are highly diverse regarding race, ethnicity, sexual orientation, religious orientation, socio-economic status, geographical locations, physical appearances, and languages. We continue to experience non-traditional consumers (e.g., Asian descent, East India descent, physical disabled, LGBT) seeking treatment for their behavioral health disorders. However, most of our treatment methods are based on Etic view point (i.e., viewing Western concepts of normality and abnormality as applicable to all cultures). As the result, we are experiencing increased consumer no-show rates and poor follow up. To reverse these trends, behavioral health clinicians and leaders must become culturally competent. This presentation will be geared towards improving and increasing cultural competence among providers to improve treatment outcomes among our diverse consumers. Participants will be able to: 1. Analyze their cultural competency barriers; 2. Apply Maslow's Hierarchy of Needs to Behavioral Health Treatment; and 3. Apply Bandura Self Efficacy Theory to Behavioral Health Treatment.

4. Discovering the Joy of Caring for Ourselves and Other: Identifying and Preventing Abuse and Neglect

■ Qualifies for 1.5 Related MCBAP Education Contact Hours

– Lois Shulman, Vice Chairperson, Oakland Community Health Network

Discovering the joy of caring for another is intentional. Learning to care for ourselves, feeling value, with compassion and understanding, provides the opportunity to experience joy. Joy felt and understood can then be intentionally shared. Learning to identify and avoid abusive and neglectful behaviors opens the door to communication. Abusive and neglectful behaviors can happen by feeling overstressed by life circumstances; by working conditions; and/or by persons we are caring for responding in ways that are a challenge. This session focuses on how to forgive ourselves as we identify our own stress triggers and stress busters; to create person-centered relationships with those we care for; and to develop skills, including active listening to support our intention. The joy of caring is a gift to oneself and to others. Participants will be able to: 1. Demonstrate self-care, forgiveness, understanding and compassion; 2. Identify behaviors that are abusive and neglectful; and 3. Employ tools to ensure the opportunity to discover joy in caring for oneself and others.

– Robert Sheehan, CEO, Michigan Association of Community Mental Health Boards

– Andrew Silver, BA, Director of Training, Office of Recipient Rights, Michigan Department of Health and Human Services

This session is designed for new and current board members. We will start with a brief keynote address, followed by presentations on Orientation to the Governance and Leadership Program and Critical Updates. We will conclude with an opportunity to discuss board related planning and action considerations relative to the day's learning. Update: Current board members are provided a comprehensive update on the most critical issues for the upcoming year. This particularly includes matters of the state and federal budgets, MDHHS's PIHP and CMHSP contracts and critical policy issues. A portion of this workshop will cover the role of the CMHSP Board as it relates to the Rights Protection Process. Attendees will learn how the Board relates to the Recipient Rights Advisory Committee, to the selection of the Recipient Rights Director and its role in the Recipient Rights Appeals Committee. The session will review the rights of recipients as enumerated in the Mental Health Code, discuss the role of rights in the protection of consumers, training requirements for agency staff, confidentiality issues, the Recipient Rights Annual Report and how the Board can use this tool for process improvement. Participants will be able to: 1. Understand their role as Board Members in the Rights Complaint Process; 2. Keynote: There Has Always Been Drinking in America: Alcohol, History, Culture, and What it All Means for Prevention

- Qualifies for 1 Specific MCBAP Education Contact Hour
 - Rodney A. Wambeam, PhD, Senior Research Scientist, Wyoming Survey & Analysis Center of the University of Wyoming

Americans drink to celebrate and to mourn. We toast a new addition to our family, an engagement, a marriage, a new job and a life well-lived. We open a bottle to break bread with friends, to watch sports, to pray, and to drown our sorrows. But we also suffer from addiction, violence, motor vehicle crashes, and death, all at the hands of alcohol. This keynote explores America's cultural relationship to alcohol, from the thirteen colonies and prohibition to today's music and movies. In prevention, we often focus so intently on our communities and strategies that we fail to step back and look at the much, much bigger picture of the cultural and historical context of what we are trying to accomplish. Using humor and examples from history, movies, music, television, and more, Dr. Rodney Wambeam provides the larger context of what it means to prevent the misuse, abuse and devastating consequences of a substance that has always been part of the American experience. Participants will be able to: 1. Describe the role alcohol played in early America when alcohol was considered safer than water; 2. Understand past prevention efforts that focused upon a moral approach to prevention and why they "failed;" 3. Examine how popular culture (movies, television, music, social media, and more) help to define how Americans use and feel about alcohol; and 4. Recognize how understanding historical and cultural context can improve our prevention efforts and lead to better outcomes.

of Michigan Depression Center

In 2009 the University of Michigan Depression Center and Department of Psychiatry, in partnership with the Army National Guard and other key stakeholders, developed Buddy-to-Buddy (B2B), a program that supports mental health and wellness in service members and Veterans through outreach, support, and community linkages provided by trained volunteer veterans. B2B now supports over 130 trained volunteer Veterans throughout the state as they provide free, confidential support to thousands of service members and veterans. The current presentation will describe the B2B model, describe its linkages with community mental health in the State of Michigan, describe the role of military cultural competence in fighting stigma, and explore how continued collaboration between community mental health and B2B can help support Veterans' wellbeing in Michigan. A volunteer Veteran serving in the program will speak about his experiences. Participants will be able to: 1. Describe the B2B Volunteer Veteran Program; 2. Explain the role of military cultural competency in fighting stigma; and 3. Specify how B2B and community mental health can partner to improve Veteran wellbeing in Michigan.

Over the course of the past decade, the overall prison population in Michigan has declined while the overall number of prisoners receiving mental health services has increased. Characteristics of this population will be discussed and attendees will receive an overview of the continuum of services within the Michigan Department of Corrections. A primary focus will be on the reentry needs of returning citizens, including an overview of current practices and a vision of how further community engagement and collaboration will promote offender success, reduce revolving door recidivism and build communities. Participants will be able to: 1. Describe three programs of services provided within prison; 2. Identify three population trends or traits; and 3. Summarize a model of improved coordination that includes three correlates for their work or their local community.

10. Managing an External Audit – Before, During and After the Visit

■ Qualifies for 1.5 Related + Supervision MCBAP Education Contact Hours

– Dale K. Howe, PhD in Public Administration, Owner, DK Howe Consulting, LLC

There are multiple layers of auditors working in Michigan now. Before they show up at your door, there are some things you can do to strengthen your position. There certainly are some things you do and don't want to do while they are on site. If you understand the process from a few steps back, you can get through the audit with less work, less stress, and at a lower cost. The workshop will cover the steps in a typical audit, some of the statistics used (what they mean, not how to calculate them), and how recoveries are calculated. Some of the audit programs have clear financial incentives for the auditors to find errors and recover revenue. Learning to manage an audit is an essential skill. Participants will be able to: 1. Explain the purpose of external audits; 2. Differentiate between internal and external audits; 3. Understand the meaning of the statistics involved (NOT how to calculate them); and 4. Appreciate the importance of clearly managed communications with the auditing entity.

– Luann J. Gray, LMSW, Michigan PMTO State Coordinator, Kalamazoo Community Mental Health & Substance Abuse Services

– Ronda SanCartier, LMSW, Interim Supervisor of Outpatient and Children's Intake, Kalamazoo Community Mental Health & Substance Abuse Services

This presentation will provide a brief overview of Michigan's Parent Management Training – Oregon (PMTO) Model which is an evidence-based practice (EBP). Attendees will gain knowledge about how PMTO can influence relationships across multiple environments and impact behaviors across all life domains. PMTO is a manualized model that encourages parents/caregivers to focus and build on their own individual strengths as well as their children's strengths. This model has been implemented successfully with families that have youth from the preschool years up through adolescence. PMTO works well with youth that may be experiencing a range of signs and symptoms including: overt antisocial behavior; covert antisocial behavior; trouble with attention and processing information; difficulty with problem solving; poor judgement skills; rapidly changing moods; difficulty in school; poor social skills; staying on task; difficulty planning or working toward a goal; cognitive distortions; difficulty identifying consequences of choices; and/or taking responsibility for their own actions. Implementing the PMTO model assists parents and caregivers in learning, practicing and mastering the parenting skills that can be used to impact the signs and symptoms of many diagnoses and lead to achieving the desired outcomes as defined by the parents/caregivers in the person-centered planning processes.

This workshop will demonstrate how PMTO Core Parenting Practices can be utilized in achieving identified treatment goal outcomes. Participants will be able to: 1. Gain knowledge about Michigan's PMTO EBP model; 2. Define PMTO's five core parenting practices and how they match the needs for treatment; and 3. Identify how PMTO practices can be utilized in developing interventions, coping skills and/or strategies to lessen signs and symptoms of several diagnoses while achieving the desired treatment goal outcomes.

13. The Intersection of Population Health Data and Complex Case Management to Improve Outcomes in Wayne County

■ Qualifies for 1.5 Related + Supervision MCBAP Education Contact Hours

– Chad June, BS, Deputy Chief Information Officer, Detroit Wayne Mental Health Authority

– Julia Kyle, LMSW, MBA, Director of Integrated Healthcare Initiatives, Detroit Wayne Mental Health Authority

One of the greatest barriers to coordinating behavioral health and primary care is the lack of access to siloed health information. State-wide innovations and access to information through health information exchanges have helped open the door to whole person care, but is often not in a format that supports the quality improvement work necessary to address widespread health disparities. Through an IT/integrated care state block grant, the Detroit Wayne Mental Health Authority was able to purchase and disseminate a population health tool to a subset of large providers serving over 45,000 individuals each year. This project supports system-wide quality improvement projects, including, but not limited to, our NCOA complex case management program, which has resulted in significant reductions in urgent and emergent utilization. This session will describe the development of an innovative complex care management program at the specialty behavioral health payer and examine preliminary results in cost savings and outcomes. Participants will be able to: 1. Recognize 1-2 strategies for identifying population health tools that meet the needs of their organizations; 2. Identify the process for translating population health data into targeted clinical programs like complex case management; and 3. Describe 3 key features of complex case management that can impact service utilization and patient outcomes.

– Carol Wimmer, MA, LPC, LLP, Behavioral Health Consultant, network180

– Matt Wojack, MSW/LMSW, Supervisor, Healthcare Integration, CMH Authority of Clinton-Eaton-Ingham Counties

The Michigan Child Collaborative Care Program (MC3), through collaboration with CMHs, provides guidance and support to primary care providers managing children, adolescents and young adults through age 26 and perinatal women with behavioral health problems. These patients, unable to access psychiatric care, may progress in severity to the point where they become in need of higher level care, such as CMH services. The presenters will present survey data on 1. The CMH experience of the MC3 Program in providing access to just-in-time behavioral health and psychiatry consultations; and 2. How MC3 fits in within the provision of integrated care by CMH. Our data suggest there is universal appreciation of the value and utility of MC3, and its ability to expand the array of supports that communities have for youth in at-risk situations. The data also suggest ongoing engagement with providers is crucial to bring about effective utilization. The partnership between MC3 and CMH demonstrates how consumers receive timely services that effectively meet their needs. Participants will be able to: 1. Identify two ways psychiatry and behavioral health consultation impacts access to care; 2. Recognize at least three benefits and challenges of integrated care for organizations; and 3. Identify two ways psychiatry and behavioral health consultation fits the continuum of community based services.

People with serious mental illness (SMI) and the chronically physically ill with behavioral co-morbidities experience significant gaps in health care that result in shorter life expectancies, increased medical acuity, and higher health care costs. While this issue exists across the nation, each state has taken a different approach to implementing solutions. This workshop will review the value of integrated care for patients, compare and contrast different models and approaches, and give an overview of how policymakers, providers, advocates and payers have worked together to problem-solve local solutions. Participants will be able to: 1. Describe the value of an integrated approach for patients; 2. List three examples of systematic integrated care approaches; and 3. Understand the different approaches states utilize to support an integrated care system.

Awareness campaigns are passé. Acceptance is where trust is present and therefore success can thrive! This is a powerful presentation that challenges commonly held untruths regarding disability and charges listeners towards acceptance and respect. Inclusion is about supporting a setting so all are equally valued, safe and welcome. Having a disability in and of itself has no bearing on how successful and fulfilling life can be. Neurodiversity is the acceptance and celebration of those that operate other than what most of the world considers to be normal and to help society to realize no one really has the right to name what someone else's normal should be.

- Qualifies for 1.5 Related MCBAP Education Contact Hours
- Joshua Colby, MA, LPC, CAADC, Therapist, Arbor Circle

Increases in the rates of incarceration have led to a focus on reducing the population involved in the criminal justice system. While reducing this population will require intentional policy changes on a macro level, interest in interventions that reduce the risks for the individuals who are interacting with the criminal justice system have also been of concern. This workshop will focus on intervening with individuals who are part of the criminal justice system including those with co-occurring disorders to reduce their risks of further involvement. This workshop will explore individual risk factors for criminal behavior, beliefs that facilitate criminal behaviors and interventions that have been shown to reduce the risk of recidivism. Complex interactions between biology, human development, and structural issues in society will be explored as factors contributing to both criminal behavior and risk of sanction for criminal behaviors. The Risk, Need, Responsivity model will be suggested as a frame work and several cognitive, behavioral, and social learning strategies will be explored. Finally, participants will practice a cognitive restructuring task that can be used with individuals to develop more adaptive thinking in response to potentially risky situations.
