New Center mental health agency to close

Below is an excerpt from Crain's Detroit Business on the closing of a longstanding Detroit area mental health and human services provider.

New Center Community Services has given notice that it will close May 14 after absorbing 22 percent rate cuts the past year and $4 million in payment cuts the past two years, according to CEO Joy Calloway.

Founded in 1979, the nonprofit New Center offers mental health services for 4,800 adult and children in five locations with about 140 employees. Calloway has been CEO the past five years.

In a April 20 letter, Calloway said New Center must close because payment cuts the past several years initiated by the Detroit Wayne Mental Health Authority and CareLink, which funds New Center, negatively affected at least 2,000 patients and led to the center to turn away more than 800 patients.

"The bottom line impact to New Center totaled more than $4 million between the current and last fiscal years," Calloway said in the statement. "The March 2017 rate standardization resulted in an average 22 percent cut to New Center's rates with a $2.2 million hit to our bottom line for the fiscal year."

"DWMHA is committed to working closely with staff and consumers from New Center Community Services and CareLink (one of four contract agencies under DWMHA) in ensuring that the nearly 4,800 consumers receiving services through (New Center) will be connected to a new provider (agency) of their choice," Willie Brooks, DWMHA CEO, said in a statement.

Like many mental health agencies that serve the Medicaid population in Southeast Michigan, New Center has been adjusting to payment changes begun four years ago by the state Department of Health and Human Services. MDHHS cut state Medicaid funding to the three county authorities in Southeast Michigan — Wayne, Oakland and Macomb — by more than 5 percent each year since 2013. The payment reductions continue through this year.

The cuts, called rebasing, were part of an effort to move to a new statewide Medicaid rate for Michigan's 10 regional mental health authorities. Medicaid also has cut traditional Medicaid funding as the Healthy Michigan Medicaid expansion began in 2013.

Nearly half of the 330,000 people served in the state's behavioral health system live in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties. New Center is one of the largest of more than 1,400 provider agencies in Wayne County.

Industry insiders say there are many other smaller mental health agencies in Wayne County and other parts of the state that also have financial problems and could be in danger of closing. One source says that Michigan has too many smaller agencies with under 100 patients and there needs to be consolidation to reduce administrative costs and improve efficiencies.

One major behavioral health administrator already is in danger of folding. Lakeshore Regional Entity in western Michigan, one of 10 regional prepaid inpatient health plans, has lost more than $10 million, has exhausted its reserves and could close by Sept. 30 unless it becomes solvent.

In a report earlier this year (<http://www.crainsdetroit.com/article/20180211/news/652676/mental-health-providers-say-they-were-shortchanged-by-state-medicaid>), the Community Mental Health Association of Michigan concluded the state has shortchanged the mental health industry by at least $100 million the past two years. State Medicaid officials have disputed the charge, but the state continues to discuss funding shortfalls.

STATE AND NATIONAL DEVELOPMENTS AND RESOURCES

Over 2,500 persons – persons served, family members, community and statewide advocates, clinicians, mental health leaders and stakeholders – met on the Capitol lawn for the Community Mental Health Association of Michigan's 14th annual Walk-a-Mile event. The rally, the largest annual rally held at Michigan's Capitol, underscored the importance of a strong mental health system and the need to continue to ensure dignity, respect, and opportunity for persons with mental health needs.

Congratulations to the Public Relations Committee of the CMH Association and the hundreds of staff and volunteers who made this rally a tremendous success.

Michigan Health Policy Forum announces spring 2018 forum on civil discourse

Michigan Health Policy Forum
Monday, May 14, 2018
1:00 PM - 4:00 PM
Kellogg Center - Big 10A
219 South Harrison Road
East Lansing, MI 48824

Civil Discourse: The Gateway to Sustainable Policy Changes

In the past decade, the United States has adopted policies that maximized the number of US citizens with health insurance coverage/services and then taken action to reverse that direction. What are the goals of the United States with regard to health insurance coverage for its citizens? What does our nation value with regard to health care?

The change in policy direction did not result from meaningful dialogue about our health policy goals. In the absence of that dialogue, policy arguments and political arguments are used interchangeably. Informed health policy requires informed discussion. The Michigan Health Policy Forum is dedicated to presenting informed discussion in the belief that a civil exchange of ideas from all sides of the political spectrum will help Forum attendees in understanding the concerns that shape health policy. This understanding is the basis of sustainable policy change in health care.

Speakers: Randolph Rasch, PhD, RN, FAANP, Dean, Michigan State University College of Nursing; Joseph R. Antos, PhD, American Enterprise Institute “The View from the Right”; Sabrina Corlette, JD, Health Policy Institute, Georgetown University “The View from the Left”; Mr. Paul Hillegonds, CEO, Michigan Health Endowment Fund; Senator Curtis Hertel (D), Representative Edward Canfield (R); Dennis Paradis, MPH, Executive Director, Michigan Health Policy Forum.

The CMH Association of Michigan is a member of the Michigan Health Policy Forum.

Federal Departments release parity enforcement tools

Last week, several federal agencies issued guidance to enhance the enforcement of the federal parity law, which requires that insurance coverage of mental health and addiction services be equal to medical/surgical health services. The new guidance is the result of requirements included in the 21st Century Cures Act to improve behavioral health coverage. The guidance released by Health and Human Services (HHS), Departments of Labor and Treasury is intended to help employers and insurers implement parity, improve the coordination of parity enforcement between the agencies and to provide Congress with recommendations for improving parity compliance moving forward.

Federal agencies have released the following resources to improve enforcement of the Mental Health Parity and Addiction Equity Act (MHPAEA) of 2008, as required by the 21st Century Cures Act:

- Proposed NQTL FAQs: This document includes proposed guidance from the Department of Labor regarding nonquantitative treatment limitations (NQTLs) and disclosure requirements in connection with the Mental Health Parity and Addiction Equity Act (MHPAEA). NQTLs are non-numerical limits on the scope or duration of treatment benefits, such as preauthorization requirements. Public comments are invited and can be submitted until June 22, 2018 to E-OHPSCA-FAQ39@dol.gov.
- DOL 2018 Report to Congress: Pathway to Full Parity: This report summarizes DOL’s activities to further parity implementation and provides a roadmap of DOL vision for the future to minimize parity violations.
- FY2017 MHPAEA Enforcement Fact Sheet: This fact sheet summarizes the parity enforcement activities of the Employee Benefits Security Administration (EBSA), which relies on its 400 investigators to review health plans for compliance with MHPAEA.
- 2018 MHPAEA Self-Compliance Tool: The goal of this self-compliance tool is to help group health plans, plan sponsors, plan administrators, group and individual market health insurance issuers, state regulators and other parties determine whether a group health plan or health insurance issuer complies with MHPAEA.

- Revised Draft MHPAEA Disclosure Template (issued April 23, 2018): This is a tool to help consumers request information from their employer-sponsored health plan or insurer regarding coverage limitations that may affect their access to mental health or substance use disorder benefits.
- HHS Mental Health and Substance Use Disorder Action Plan: The Action Plan highlights recent activities and planned actions from HHS, DOL and the Treasury Department related to ongoing implementation of MHPAEA based comments from a public listening session held in July 2017.

Michigan Crisis Residential Providers Advocate for Co-Occurring Licensing Changes

On Tuesday, May 1st, Lyndsay Martin of Hope Network and Travis Atkinson of TBD Solutions testified before the Michigan Senate Health Policy Committee to advocate for changes to the licensing of Crisis Residential Units (CRUs). Currently, licensing rules state that Adult Foster Care Homes, which CRUs are licensed under, may not have 24-hour nursing or provide drug or alcohol rehabilitation, yet almost 50% of referrals to CRUs have a co-occurring disorder, and these individuals are 40% more likely to re-admit to a CRU within 30 days than those without a co-occurring disorder. This bill would allow for CRUs to obtain a “Co-Occurring Enhanced Crisis Residential Program” license and provide integrated, co-occurring treatment to individuals in crisis. The Committee will vote on this bill the week of May 7th.

This advocacy effort came out of work done by the Michigan Crisis Residential Network. Formed in 2015 by TBD Solutions, the group connects CRU providers across the state, engaging conversations and initiating efforts like crisis metrics development, statewide advocacy, and program development.

LEGISLATIVE UPDATE

SENATE GOP INTRODUCES FIRST SCHOOL SAFETY BILLS

Republican Senators introduced three bills last week, beginning their efforts to address school safety across the state. Following the recent tragic events across the county, including multiple involving schools, the Michigan Legislature and Executive Office have noted reforms in the state are necessary to ensure student safety.

In the bills introduced last week, Senate members outlined multiple recommendations for schools and public safety officials, among other regulation updates. As introduced, Senate Bill 959 would require the Michigan Commission on Law Enforcement Standards (MCOLES) to develop training standards for active shooter situations in schools. The standards would be effective January 1, 2020 for all law enforcement seeking licensure and would be scenario-based training. The training would include procedures such as building entry, rescue team and first responder coordination, and building movement in formation.

Under Senate Bill 958, school districts, intermediate school districts, and public-school academies would be required to provide a report (at least on an annual basis) to the Michigan Department of State Police. The report would detail attempted acts of violence on school grounds, as well as threats of violence made to students, school staff or school grounds and how they were prevented. These reports would be exempt from the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) and allow for the exclusion of school name, individual names, and any other identifying information of the school or those involved in the incident.

The Student Safety Act would see its sunset eliminated under Senate Bill 957. The Student Safety Act was originally passed in 2013 and created the Student Safety Fund and programs such as the OK2Say hotline, which is used to report potential threats to schools and/or student safety. Senate Bills 959 and 958 were forwarded to the Senate Judiciary Committee and Senate Bill 957 was sent to the Senate Education Committee for consideration.

Members of the Senate Appropriations Committee also addressed the issue of school safety on Wednesday, having approved an $18.6 million supplemental via Senate Bill 601.

NATIONAL UPDATE

House Subcommittee Approves 56 Opioid Bills

On Wednesday, the House Energy and Commerce Health Subcommittee approved 56 of the 63 opioid bills pending before the Committee in a largely bipartisan fashion. The wide-ranging package of opioid bills includes many National Council priorities such as expanding access to substance abuse treatment through telemedicine, building up the addiction treatment workforce and encouraging quality standards for recovery housing. This week's Subcommittee vote keeps the full Committee on track to advance legislation to the House floor no later than Memorial Day.

Among the bills approved during Wednesday's hearing:

- Telemedicine: The package includes two bills developed as the result of National Council advocacy efforts to remove barriers to MAT and prescribing of controlled substances—such as buprenorphine and some psychiatric medications—via telemedicine. The Improving Access to Remote Behavioral Health Treatment Act of 2018 (H.R. 5594), would expand access to care for patients in rural communities by allowing certain community behavioral health providers and Certified Community Behavioral Health Clinics to provide patients with access to these medications via telemedicine. Another bill (H.R. 5483) would require the Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) to establish a special registration process for telemedicine providers to register with DEA to enable their patients to receive prescriptions for these medications via telemedicine. If enacted, the DEA would have one year to establish this process.
- Residential Addiction Treatment: A House discussion draft, similar to the Senate's Medicaid CARE Act (S. 1169), would amend the Institutes of Mental Disease (IMD) rule to allow Medicaid to pay for patient stays of up to 90 days in an IMD for residential addiction treatment. Patients would need to be assessed after the first 30 days to determine if continued care (up to 60 more days) is medically necessary. The National Council has long supported and advanced this change.
- Recovery Housing: The Ensuring Access to Quality Sober Living Act (H.R.4684) would have the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA) disseminate recovery housing best practices, based on the National Alliance for Recovery Residence's quality standards, to the states and provide them with technical assistance to implement the standards. The bill aligns closely with the recommendations of the National Council's state policy guide for supporting recovery housing.
- Addiction Treatment Workforce: The Substance Use Disorder Workforce Loan Repayment Act (H.R.5102) would create a student loan forgiveness program dedicated specifically to addiction treatment professionals, which would attract more professionals to the field and increase timely access to treatment. This legislation was introduced as a result of education and advocacy by the National Council and the Association for Behavioral Health in Massachusetts.

Other measures approved during the hearing would incentivize Medicare beneficiary education and pain assessment, incentivize the development of non-opioid alternatives, allow hospice workers to dispose of unused opioid medications in patient's homes, foster prescriber education for clinical outliers, and more. Notably, seven of the 63 bills were not voted on, many of them addressing Medicaid-related issues.
